

What is the medical term for a disorder characterized by sudden, recurrent attacks o

- A. Seizure disorder
- B. Headache disorder
- C. Skin disorder
- D. Digestive disorder

Answer: A. Seizure disorder

Which disorder is characterized by a progressive degeneration of motor neurons in t

- A. Muscular dystrophy
- B. ALS
- C. Parkinson's
- D. Multiple sclerosis

Answer: B. ALS

What is the name of the condition that causes chronic pain and tenderness in the mu

- A. Arthritis
- B. Chronic fatigue syndrome
- C. Lupus
- D. Fibromyalgia

Answer: D. Fibromyalgia

Which disorder is characterized by involuntary, repetitive movements of the face, lin

- A. Obsessive-compulsive disorder

- B. Tourette syndrome
- C. Anxiety disorder
- D. Depression

Answer: B. Tourette syndrome

What is the name of the condition that causes sudden, brief disturbances in the brain?

- A. Flu
- B. Headache
- C. Epilepsy
- D. Cold

Answer: C. Epilepsy

Which disorder is characterized by a loss of myelin in the central nervous system, leading to various neurological symptoms?

- A. Multiple sclerosis
- B. Alzheimer's disease
- C. ALS
- D. Parkinson's disease

Answer: A. Multiple sclerosis

What is the name of the condition that causes excessive, involuntary muscle contractions, often affecting the face and neck?

- A. Spasmodonia
- B. Dystonia
- C. Contracitis
- D. Musclemania

Answer: B. Dystonia

Which disorder is characterized by a progressive decline in memory, thinking, and reasoning?

- A. Alzheimer's disease
- B. Depression
- C. ADHD
- D. Anxiety

Answer: A. Alzheimer's disease

What is the medical term for a disorder that affects the communication between the brain and muscles?

- A. Muscular dystrophy
- B. Parkinson's disease
- C. ALS
- D. Myasthenia gravis

Answer: D. Myasthenia gravis

Which disorder is characterized by a disruption in the brain's ability to regulate mood?

- A. Anxiety disorder
- B. Bipolar disorder
- C. Schizophrenia
- D. Depression

Answer: B. Bipolar disorder

What is the name of the condition that causes chronic pain, numbness, and tingling

- A. Arthritis
- B. Fibromyalgia
- C. Peripheral Neuropathy
- D. Carpal Tunnel Syndrome

Answer: C. Peripheral Neuropathy

Which disorder is characterized by a dysfunction in the brain's ability to control mov

- A. Multiple sclerosis
- B. Huntington's disease
- C. Alzheimer's disease
- D. Parkinson's disease

Answer: D. Parkinson's disease

What is the medical term for a disorder that affects the body's ability to regulate bloo

- A. Obesity
- B. Anemia
- C. Hypertension
- D. Diabetes

Answer: D. Diabetes

Which disorder is characterized by a disruption in the brain's ability to process sens

- A. Anxiety disorder

- B. Obsessive-compulsive disorder
- C. Attention deficit disorder
- D. Vestibular disorder

Answer: D. Vestibular disorder

What is the name of the condition that causes inflammation and damage to the prote

- A. Arthritis
- B. Diabetes
- C. Multiple Sclerosis
- D. Fibromyalgia

Answer: C. Multiple Sclerosis

Which disorder is characterized by a disruption in the brain's ability to regulate sleep

- A. Insomnia
- B. Restless legs syndrome
- C. Sleep apnea
- D. Narcolepsy

Answer: D. Narcolepsy

What is the medical term for a disorder that affects the body's ability to regulate tem

- A. Hypertension
- B. Hyperthyroidism
- C. Dysautonomia
- D. Diabetes

Answer: C. Dysautonomia

Which disorder is characterized by a dysfunction in the brain's ability to process language?

- A. Alzheimer's
- B. Dyslexia
- C. ADHD
- D. Autism

Answer: B. Dyslexia

What is the name of the condition that causes chronic, widespread pain in the muscles and soft tissues?

- A. Arthritis
- B. Fibromyalgia
- C. Lupus
- D. Chronic Fatigue Syndrome

Answer: B. Fibromyalgia

Which disorder is characterized by a disruption in the brain's ability to regulate involuntary functions?

- A. Anemia
- B. Asthma
- C. Dysautonomia
- D. Diabetes

Answer: C. Dysautonomia

